Past & Present

Lehigh is a university rich with tradition and a walk around its picturesque campus shows a striking contrast between the old and the new. The history of buildings such as the University Center and Coppee Hall and the technological advances of the recently completed Rauch Business Center demonstrate how Lehigh continues to grow and change, moving toward the future. The Rauch Business Center, constructed on the site of the old Taylor Stadium opened in the fall. Located near this impressive structure is a concrete work of art that used to be part of the stadium, a strong representation of the intermingling of past and present.

Plays At Lehigh

This page, performing in "Appointment With a High Wire Lady" are, clockwise from top: Joe Williams, Dosie Clausen, and Denise Iavicoli.

Dramatic talents abounded at Lehigh this year. The Mustard and Cheese Society put on a number of successful productions throughout the fall and spring semesters. In December they presented their version of "Appointment with a High Wire Lady," followed by six sold-out performances of the Greek drama "The Bacchae" in March.

Entertainment

Stabler Arena was rocking this year with concerts to suit all musical tastes, with everything from MC Hammer to Fleetwood Mac and Midnight Oil. The fall semester opened with a Meatloaf concert outside in Sayre Park. Other performers, like comedian Paula Poundstone, entertained students in Packard Auditorium.

Speakers At Lehigh

Intellectual curiosities were peaked this year by numerous speakers and panel discussions, representing diverse viewpoints and ideologies. Everyone from renowned businessman Lee Iacocca to science-fiction writer Issac Asimov and rapper Chuck D were on hand to provide the student body with information on a wide-range of topics and issues. Faculty also offered their perspectives on world affairs in a well-attended discussion, led by President Likins, prior to the outbreak of war in the Persian Gulf.

Campus Life

Turkey Trot

Most Lehigh students are used to running up the hill to grab a beer, hear a band, and hang out with friends on a Friday or Saturday night. But on the Thursday before Lehigh/Lafayette weekend hundreds of students made this 2.6 mile hike just for the heck of it in the annual Turkey Trot. Skip McVeigh won the men's title and Kerry Kirkendall finished first to earn the women's title.

Lehigh/Lafayette

This year's long-awaited Lehigh/Lafayette game hosted by Lafayette College was played on a memorable cold and rainy Saturday afternoon. But the weather didn't dampen the spirit of the Engineers who defeated the Leopards by the score of 35 to 14. Nor did the weather put a stop to the traditional pre-game tailgating and the highly controversial post-game tradition of tearing down the goal posts. This Lehigh-/Lafayette weekend was also unique because it marked the return of the celebrated bonfire the night before the big game.

Greek Week

As usual Lehigh's annual Greek Week/Springfest celebration was a success, in spite of the less than perfect weather which caused some events to be post-poned. Greek Week 1991 was unique in that it marked the return of the infamous bed races on the lower campus and included an outstanding musical performance by the New Jersey-based band Blues Travelers. The traditional air band competition held in Zetes parking lot was a treat and the Beta pledges took first place in the contest. Delta Zeta sorority won the week's events.

A Message From the President

As you read this farewell message in 1991, remember that you will read it again twenty years later, or thirty or fifty. Ask yourself in 1991 how you will feel when you return to these words at the peak of your career, or at its close.

You are graduating from Lehigh with such exciting opportunities ahead that you may be tempted to pursue your own objectives single-mindedly, with "success" as your dominant goal. You have worked hard to prepare for this moment, and the privileges that now await you cannot be denied. In the long run, however, you will be judged not by the privileges you have earned, but by the responsibilities you have borne. If you are wise, you will not wait to assume responsibility for others with lesser gifts. Let your goals from the very beginning of your career include giving of your talents and energies to other people in your life, so the habit of kindness and generosity will be with you always.

You have received a gift from your parents, whether you felt their presence or not. Other family members, teachers, coaches and friends have given generously to your development. Your turn will come to be a parent, a teacher, and a friend. Be worthy of your Lehigh education, and meet these responsibilities well.

Sincerely,

Aerospace Studies

Through the Air Force Reserve Officer Training Corps program, the Aerospace department develops future Air Force officers from talented motivated students. The program combines challenging academic courses, a rigorous physical fitness program and Leadership Laboratory. Through this program, our students can meet the challenges of tomorrow's Air Force.

The 1990-91 Detachment 715 cadet corps was 84 students strong. The cadets were very active. They started the school year with a freshman orientation with over 30 freshmen attending. Going through the "ropes" course and enlisting freshman scholarship students highlighted the orientation. In September, the corps sponsored a 24-hour Prisoner of War/Missing in Action freedom run. Opened to all members of the university and the local community, over 100 runners covered the two mile course throughout the vigil. On Veteran's Day, the cadets conducted a flag raising ceremony at the University Center flagpole.

On the social scene, the cadets sponsored several activities. They conducted several pizza and volleyball nights. In addition, they held a field day both semesters. For field day, the cadets ran a 1.5 mile run, completed a grueling fitness test, competed in organized sports with a picnic afterwards. Also, in October, the cadets visited Washington D.C. and Andrews AFB, MD. They also held receptions for both the freshmen and upperclassmen parents weekend. In the best military tradition, the corps' Dining-In was the social event of the fall semester. The guest speaker was Martin C. Faga, Air Force Assistant Secretary for Space and AFROTC commissionee, Class of '63. In the spring semester, the Air Force and Army cadet corps hosted a military ball.

The department's program is very demanding. The cadets' hard work make the program a success.

Art & Architecture

The department of Art and Architecture is a fast growing and highly motivated group. The 56 majors, 10 double majors, eight art majors and large numbers of minors work hard and appreciate each other as the following quotes indicate.

Michael Rios, who has a double major in architecture and urban studies, says, "I like the one-on-one relationship between students and faculty in the studio." Jennifer Gannon, a senior architecture major, says she gets help with her work not just from faculty, but also from students. "I'm just amazed that I know all the professors by their first names and that other students don't compete, rather they help each other."

Professor Richard Redd agrees, "We have highly motivated students. I enjoy getting to know each one individually, and you do learn from them. We have a lot of jugglers and tightrope walkers in the department performing a fine balance between releasing creative energies and meeting demands of a milieu where cognitive learning processes dominate."

Biology

Lehigh University provides students with many opportunities. For those majoring in Biology, this is no exception. Our size allows us to be a close-knit department. Unlike other majors, you won't find us clamoring for equation sheets before a test, or even bragging about our new building. Lehigh Biology provides students with many experiences such as, getting a good nap in Bio 31, having your hands smell like a dead shark in Bio 133 Lab, working until the wee hours of the morning on research projects, and trying to find out what science is at 7:00 at night while the world series is going on. You might hear some of our students or faculty making statements which attest to the quality of Lehigh Biology. Some of the more memorable statements are:

"What do all the little dots on the slide mean? . . . what's the difference between a B.S. and a B.A.? . . . do we have to know this? . . . you should have exams back by the next class . . . what is biology? . . . are we responsible for all the material in the book? . . . just one more thing before you leave . . . are the

"What is the meaning of life?" Hey, that's Biology!

Chemistry

The faculty in chemistry extend our congratulations to this year's graduates in Chemistry and Biochemistry. We know we've stressed you to the max sometimes (of course, always with warmth in our hearts) and see how well you've turned out. Thanks for being with us.

The biggest news in the department this year is the acquisition of the Scienta ESCA-300 instrument. This million dollar photoelectron spectrometer is the only one of its kind in the United States and only the second in the world. This is a good example of why the department has an international reputation in surface science. Obviously the state of the art, the spectrometer features the highest obtainable resolution and vastly improved x-ray intensity. This allows high resolution mapping of surfaces for both elemental composition and determination of chemical state. This technique has applications in corrosion, study of surface defects, adhesion, and many other fields.

History

Exciting things are happening in the History Department. Recently the department has expanded its undergraduate honors program and a number of juniors and seniors are actively engaged in year-long research projects, working closely with a faculty member. Topics this year include: the Italian-American Community in Easton, Pa.; The Image of Mexicans in Hollywood Movies; Cultural Exchanges Between Massachusetts Settlers and Indians in the mid-Seventeenth Century; Modernization of the Prussian Army; German Student Resistance of Nazism; Winston Churchill and General Wavell; Workers and their Families during the Bethlehem Steel Strike of 1959.

The department is affiliated with two important academic programs on campus: the Gipson Institute for Eighteenth Century Studies and the Science, Technology, and Society Program. The Gipson Institute sponsors an annual scholarly symposium; the topic for 1991 is "Love and Marriage in the Eighteenth Century." The STS program sponsors a weekly luncheon series on topics in the history of technology.

New and innovative courses in the department include its participation in an interdisciplinary course on Canada, dealing with history, politics, and economics. In the past few years the department has enlarged its program in the history of technology and offers a number of undergraduate courses in that field, dealing with both the United States and Japan.

In 1990 Professor Roger Simon succeeded Professor Joseph Dowling as chairman. The department also welcomed the addition of Professor Robert Phillips, of the

International Careers

Dr. Alvin Cohen

International Relations

Several I.R. courses taught by I.R. faculty are being offered every summer in Great Britain, France, and Switzerland.

Professor Rajan Menon has returned from a two-year leave of absence, having completed his first year as a fellow at the Kennan Institute for Advanced Russian Studies, and a second under a grant awarded by The New York Council on Foreign Relations, working with Congressman Stephen Solarz in Washington as national security assistant.

Last year Professor Bruce E. Moon had been awarded the Class of 1961 Professorship, which recognizes the teaching and scholarly activities of a newly-promoted associate professor.

Professor Henri J. Barkey spent six weeks in Argentina as part of a Fulbright Seminar Abroad where he was doing research on Argentina's economic stabilization plans.

An exciting feature is the Cohen International Lecture Series which brings distinguished speakers to the campus each year. Arranged by Professor Z. Slouka, the series included former National Security Advisor

Journalism

The Lehigh Journalism Department not only has a new face brightening up the office, it has a resident international reporting specialist — Jack Lule. Jack, as he likes the students to call him, came to Lehigh all the way from Tulsa, Oklahoma, this past fall and has added an international dimension to the journalism program by teaching an international reporting course.

As the students were getting to know Jack, they were missing Professor Wally Trimble, who was away for the year on sabbatical.

Department Chairperson Sharon Friedman and Ken Friedman highlighted international environmental reporting in the science writing program this year. Students had an opportunity to speak with international journalists from Germany, Switzerland, and many Southeast Asian countries.

All professors in the department worked to increase student involvement in journalism and the communication arts. Professor Frankie Hutton has been at Lehigh for only two years, but has brought a world of knowledge to her students. "She is a tough, but fair professor who turns her courses into professional journalism experiences," said journal-

The journalism department recently expanded to include speech communication with the addition of Professor Dina Wills who directs the interdisciplinary Communication minor. The minor offers a wide variety of classes in communication including speaking, writing, graphic arts, organization, group and interpersonal communication and public relations.

Military Science

Leadership and excellence started here in 1919. Lehigh ROTC is one of the oldest in our nation. Army ROTC at Lehigh University is about producing leaders for the future. Our leaders learn to demonstrate:

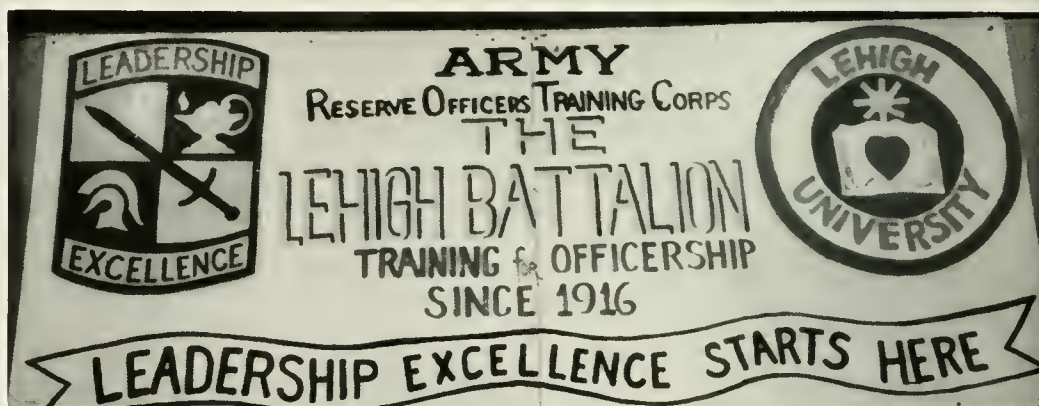

- Initiative
- Competence
- Fighting Spirit
- Confidence

The Army ROTC Leader Development Program at Lehigh University is dynamic! We develop high quality officers to serve our nation and to lead its soldiers. These soldiers are young citizens that our nation offers us as its most precious asset. We take this responsibility seriously.

The responsibility to lead others is serious business at Lehigh Army ROTC. Therefore, our cadets must pass through several "Quality Gates" before they are granted the opportunity to pin on the "Gold Bar" of a leader. Our cadets must demonstrate proficiency in 18 leadership dimensions, with special emphasis on academics, physical stamina and ethical behavior.

Modern Foreign Languages

The most exciting development this year was the award to the Department of a $100,000 grant from the arthur Vining Davis Foundations to upgrade the Language Laboratory. A Language Laboratory Committee was formed to study the new video, satellite, and computer technology that will be incorporated in the new facility. The Committee made several fact finding trips to study state-of-the-art facilities in the Northeast in order to plan the acquisition and configuration of the new International Media Resource Center to be installed on the top floor of Maginnes Hall in conjunction with the Department's move there in the summer of 1991.

Japanese language was introduced on an experimental basis, and both the new video-based course and the instructor were well received. Two additional classrooms were equipped with video to accommodate the increasing demand for video-based courses in Chinese, French, Russian, and Spanish.

The three-year, $180,000 NEH grant, designed to enhance instruction in Russian and Chinese allowed those programs to add new permanent faculty — Professor Mary Nicholas and Professor Connie Cook — and several new upper-level courses. The same grant provided support for Professor Anna Herz to lead a popular study tour to the U.S.S.R. in May and June. Professor David Pankenier, the recipient of a personal NEH research fellowship, was on study leave for the academic year 1989-90 to continue research and writing on a book about early China.

Paul Valery in Montpellier, France was completed which will provide students with access to an academic year program in France to complement the summer programs available through LVAIC. A number of MFL majors and minors went abroad to study in China, France, Germany, Spain, and the Soviet Union.

Music

Philosophy

Smaller classes and increased faculty-student interaction were the mark of the year in philosophy. A restructured introduction class, providing discussion sections with full-time faculty of less than twenty students proved popular. The text used was The Great Conversation, written by Norman Melchert and published during the year.

The philosophy club met weekly under the leadership of Cheryl Osieki, a senior bound for graduate school. And the annual Reading Party — a sort of philosophy retreat for students and faculty — sparkled on a Pocono weekend.

The department welcomed Mark Bickhard, the holder of the new Henry R. Luce Professorship in Cognitive Robotics and the Philosophy of Knowledge. Professor Bickhard has a joint appointment with psychology.

A highlight of the year was the annual Selfridge Lectureship. W.V. Quine, one of the most influential philosophers of the century, was on campus for four days of searching talks about his work and several public lectures. Philosophy, the search for wisdom, is alive and well at Lehigh.

Physics

Physics is the search for the fundamental principles which allow us to think about the world of matter, energy, and their interactions in a clear and simple manner. It is the foundation for the understanding of all natural phenomena. Education in physics enables the student to appreciate and understand the scientific achievements of the recent past and to actively participate in current research. Such training also equips the student to apply physical laws and experimental techniques to a wide range of applications.

Lehigh offers four undergraduate and two graduate degrees in physics: the B.A. and B.S. in physics in the College of Arts and Science; the B.S. in engineering physics and a five-year, two B.S. degree program in electrical engineering - engineering physics in the College of Engineering and Applied Science; and the M.S. and Ph.D. in physics.

The physics department currently has 21 full-time faculty, 2 postdoctoral research scientists, 56 full-time graduate students, and 26 declared undergraduate majors in the two colleges. Normally 60% of the graduating seniors proceed directly to graduate study in physics. A few continue their studies in areas outside physics such as engineering, law and medicine. Students who seek employment with a bachelor's degree will often be employed in an

R&D section of a large company.

The physics department is committed to providing outstanding undergraduate and graduate programs, and our graduates have been very successful.

Psychology

Lehigh's Psychology Department, which has the greatest number of majors and minors in the Arts and Science College, also has one of the fastest growing graduate programs in the College. Eleven dedicated faculty keep at the leading edge of their particular fields by conducting research and presenting their work at major scientific conferences. A broad range of courses is offered in basic psychology as well as in the areas of biopsychology, cognition and learning, developmental, personality, experimental, and abnormal psychology. Located in historical Chandler-Ullman Hall, we have ample space and state-of-the-art facilities for upperclass undergraduate students to acquire valuable first-hand experience in the Child Development Laboratory, the Cognitive Laboratory, the Biopsychology Research Facility, and the Phobia Research Program, etc. Also offered is a departmental honors program in which seniors can work on projects to allow in-depth study beyond that permitted by normal coursework.

Psychology Department

The B.A. in psychology provides preparation for a variety of different fields. In addition to serving as a preparational degree for further study in psychology, our program prepares graduates to go on to graduate studies in social work or special education, for example, or to medical, dental or law school. The minor in psychology is often used in conjunction with degrees in marketing, international relations, and other fields. The Psychology Department faculty is committed to helping students achieve their full potential.

ARTS & SCIENCE

Science, Technology, and Society

The Science, Technology and Society Program, originally established in 1972, is the product of a continuing intercollege effort to create a common ground from which to explore the relations between science, technology and society; between ideas, machines and values. The STS Program serves as a focal point for a wide range of courses that study the natures of science and of technology, and analyze their social and personal implications. It lends coherence and visibility to offerings otherwise dispersed throughout the catalog.

The STS Program offers both a major and a minor. The major in Science, Technology and Society Studies prepares students for graduate study, or for a wide variety of career opportunities including policy analysis, planning, or community relations with public or private sector agencies concerned with the social relations of scientific research and technological innovation. The minor program is particularly attractive for students interested in complementing their more traditional disciplinary major with studies in some interdisciplinary aspect of the relationships between science, technology and society. Whether it is engineering students desirous of learning more about the social context within which they will be doing their work, liberal arts students interested in knowing about the technical background of political issues they might ultimately have to vote on some day, or business students anxious to understand more fully the value context of technical decision-making processes in the managerial world, STS offers an opportunity to study these questions along with many more topical issues of the day. Donna Gaugler, a current STS major in the Class of 1992, will be pursuing a local area, STS-related internship this summer.

The STS Program sponsors numerous public lectures, colloquia, and seminars throughout the course of the academic year. This year STS co-sponsored a year-long weekly seminar with the History Department on history of technology and technology studies. In addition, STS sponsored a major academic conference entitled: "Leonardo da Vinci's Sforza Monument Horse: The Art and the Engineering." The conference brought together leading scholars from around the world to analyze the aesthetic, historic, and technical aspects of Leonardo's great Renaissance equestrian monument. The dynamics of interdepartmental and intercollege interaction for both faculty and students alike make for a stimulating intellectual experience, and also provide a more realistic preparation for students entering into their professional adult careers where life is not arranged simply by academic disciplines.

Social Relations

Greetings from our quaint outpost — Price Hall. It is from this well-appointed, luxurious structure that the faculty, staff, and students of the Department of Social Relations venture forth seeking the truth about social behavior. The ghosts of Marx, Weber, Durkheim, and Freud can be heard amidst the humming of computers, the chattering of printers, and the creaking of timbers.

There are some missing faces as well as new ones in the Department this year. Professor McIntosh took leave to do research in England. Professor Lasker returned to her post as Associate Dean of the College. Professor Herrenkohl was drafted to become Vice Provost and Dean of Graduate Studies. And, our departmental coordinator for the past several years, Judy Specht, left Lehigh to work nearer to her home in Philadelphia. New arrivals include Professor Small, formerly of the Classics Department, whose reception was tarnished by a raccoon with a case of the "munchies" (the little varmint ate up about $2000 worth of David's books in an over-night rampage). Carol Sabo took over the helm as department coordinator. And, Professor Gatewood returned from his stint in the Dean's Office to succeed McIntosh as department chair. In a year of changes and high seas, the stalwart and reliable Professors Campbell, Frankel, Rosenwein, Spade, and Tannenbaum were largely responsible for keeping the department on an even keel.

Without a doubt, however, the high point of the year was the opening of Price Hall's newly refurbished, porcelain palaces. We were all quite flushed with excitement when the Social Relations Club staged the opening ceremonials for our renovated, floor-to-ceiling tiled restrooms. Although faculty did commence to quarrel over who would get to move their offices into these immaculate and well-lighted spaces, the acrimony ended with a time-sharing plan, and felicitous social relations resumed.

Theatre

The biggest news this year for the department of theatre was our accreditation by the National Association of Schools of Theatre. Lehigh now has one of only three accredited theatre programs in Pennsylvania. The visiting team's report praised the "quality and morale" of the faculty and staff, the variety of curricular options in theatre, the "devoted, capable, and energetic" students, and the "excellent teach/student ratio, opportunities for all students to participate in most elements of the production process, and an unusually high level of collegial contact with the faculty."

Recent sharp increases in enrollment led to the "department permission required" designation for several design/technical courses and advanced acting courses. Still, some 500 students from all three undergraduate colleges took a theatre class this year. We graduated seven theatre majors and nine theatre minors from all over the University.

During the fall semester, we hosted the first Jerome Minskoff Artist-in-Residence. Playwright/juggler Russel Davis worked with director Pam Pepper's production seminar class to produce the world premiere of his play APPOINTMENT WITH A HIGH WIRE LADY. Russell also taught a very popular course in playwriting.

The 1990-1991 Lehigh University Theatre season opened with a sold-out run of WHAT THE BUTLER SAW, directed by department chairman Augustine Ripa, followed by the world premiere of APPOINTMENT WITH A HIGH WIRE LADY. The spring semester began with visiting assistant professor Mark Fearnow's energetic production of THE BACCHAE. The season closed with GETTING OUT, directed by Denise Iavicoli '91.

The department continued its active participation in the American College Theater Festival (ACTF). Assistant professor Pam Pepper was named to the Region II executive committee, and began a three-year term as vice-chair for playwriting awards. The department hosted the Region II executive committee meeting to choose productions for presentation at the regional festival.

Urban Studies

Urban Studies is not a major for faint-hearted collegians interested in a shallow acquaintance with the latest "urban crisis" discovered by the breathless media. We seek to impart a careful analytical grasp of the patterns of life in large human settlements. In the process, we try our best to deliver the classic benefits of a liberal arts education helping our students to reason more clearly, search more diligently for the truth, and argue more effectively. We combine many disciplines; an Urban Studies major takes courses with economists, architects, historians, anthropologists, political scientists, and perhaps even a classicist or geologist. Consequently, ours is a major readily combined with a second ("double") major, most commonly in Architecture, Economics, or Government.

Most of our graduates have entered the business world, which suits us fine. We think the sort of broad liberal education we offer is the best possible preparation for the adventures of the marketplace. Law is the second most popular career choice among Urban Studies majors. Others go into real estate, banking, public service (planning and city management), medicine, and architecture.

We are a small operation and students get to know us well. Several courses include field trips to Philadelphia or New York, and some students choose to spend internship semesters in Philadelphia or Washington for the major credit. Our philosophy? You spend $18,000 a year to improve your mind and your chances in life. We aim to help our students do both.

Accounting

Accounting at Lehigh has a reputation for being a challenging four-year grind, so why do about 100 students a year graduate as accounting majors?

Seniors Mike Nichols, president of the accounting honor society, and Julie Fisch, president of the accounting club, have been through three of four of the toughest years of their young lives. And they are loving it.

"You can't be an accounting major without motivation," Nichols says. "The first accounting class I took was very difficult. It really turned me on."

"Accounting prepared me to go in any direction. I feel confident I could work in a large accounting firm, industry, or banking," says Fisch.

"Students sometimes complain while they're doing the work," says assistant professor Robyn Lawrence, "but after they've accomplished something, they feel it was worth it."

"Students are motivated to tackle the work," says Ken Sinclair, department chairman, "because they get personal attention and stimulation in and out of class, and because they know that once they graduate, they will be ready to step into a job."

"Lehigh accounting majors traditionally do well with the 'Big Six' accounting firms, industry, banking, law and graduate education," Sinclair notes. "A big reason they do so well in job searches is that they know more than just how to complete a financial report. Our objective is to teach students how to think, and recruiters know Lehigh graduates have that ability," he says.

Each spring, sophomores and juniors attend Career Day, where they meet representatives of about 40 prospective employers. In courses, regular guest speakers from the business world are invited to help bring classroom material to life. Fall field trips to New York City or Philadelphia expose students to international accounting firms. In a new course, students practice making oral presentations in front of a video camera.

But perhaps the biggest advantage Lehigh accounting has over larger schools is class size. Professor Bob Mills says the department decided about 20 years ago to keep class size small for even introductory accounting courses, which at some universities include hundreds of students crowded into large lecture halls. Lehigh beginning courses have no more than 35 students, with advanced courses having even fewer students. Furthermore, courses are taught primarily by full-time faculty, not teaching assistants.

In addition to their formidable teaching commitment, the accounting faculty are busy doing research, developing textbooks or serving in professional societies.

"The research we do is important," says Manash Ray, assistant professor. "But it is particularly rewarding when professors use their research in the classroom, as we do here." Accounting at Lehigh is rewarding to students willing to do the work.

Economics

Department members are: J. Aronson, N. Balabkins, C. Callahan, A. Cohen, J. Dearden, F. Gunter, T. Hyclak, J. Innes, A. King, J. McNamara, R. Mudambi, V. Munley, A. O'Brien, W. Pillsbury, E. Schwartz, L. Taylor, and R. Thornton.

Finance

The field of finance is concerned with the transfer of funds from savers to users and the allocation of funds within an enterprise among competing demands for the funds. Attention is also focused on the institutions and instruments necessary to facilitate this transfer of funds. Hence, the Department of Finance offers courses and undertakes research in the areas of Business Finance, Investments, Security Analysis, Portfolio Management, Financial Flows and Markets, Bank Management, Financial Futures and Options, and International Financial Management. In this way it has been able to prepare students for attractive careers in the finance function of industrial firms, brokerage houses, banks and other financial intermediaries: investment banking, financial analysis, institutional investors, and national and international capital markets.

Department members are: C. Beidleman, Chair; S. Buell, D. Fletcher, J. Greenleaf, R. Kish, M. Schranz, S. Thode, and G. Vasconcellos.

Law & Business

The faculty of the Department of Law and Business consists of Brian Brockway, who specializes in commercial and tax law; Linda Mosakowski, who specializes in tax and bankruptcy law; George Nation, who specializes in corporate and commercial law; and Perry Zirkel, who specializes in labor and education law. Brockway and Zirkel are senior faculty, both of whom are at the distinguished level of "university professor." Mosakowski and Nation are assistant professors, who add breadth and growth to the teaching, research, and service activities of the department.

The department provides a range of courses, from the popular university-wide offering in Introduction to Law to advanced graduate-level courses in Commercial, Tax, and International Law.

In the research area, the faculty continues to increase their production of publications in national journals.

Management

The entire faculty and staff of the Department of Management was accommodated for the first time in almost twenty years in a single building — the Rauch Business Center, which was dedicated on 11 Oct 90. Prior to the Fall '90 semester, various members of the department's faculty and staff were fractioned between four sites on and off campus. From this point onward, the entire department can begin to integrate its activities more easily into a cohesive focused thrust.

ALDEN BEAN and JOHN BONGE co-chaired the department during the 1990-91 academic year. BEAN, the Kenan professor of management and technology, divided his efforts between: (a) departmental chair responsibilities; (b) initiating and coordinating the nationwide satellite linkage for programs offered through the National Technological University (NTU); (c) directing activities of the Center for Innovation Management Studies (CIMS) — the unique industry/university cooperative research center for studying relationships between technological innovation, management decision-making, industrial growth, and productivity; plus (d) playing a central role in developing cross-challenge R & D career projects at the undergraduate level between chemistry, chemical engineering, and business administration. Professor BONGE, on the other hand, directed activities of the Musser Center for Entrepreneurship (formerly the Small Business Development Center), in addition to handling various departmental chair responsibilities, plus generating and coordinating research proposals on client needs and consultant responses to those needs in the Lehigh Valley.

Professor BENJAMIN LITT joined CIMS during the year on community bridge-building activities in the management of technology area between the departments of Industrial Engineering and Management. He is also redirecting the focus of several of his seminars, particularly those connected with the Manufacturing System Engineering graduate program, toward the newly emerging areas of negotiating strategy skills and the ethical dimensions of organization decision-making. Associate professor TED SCHLIE continues to shepherd theses of graduate students who are involved in NTU's Master of Science in Technology Management program, in addition to serving as associate director of CIMS in charge of screening and securing funds for center-sponsored research projects. Schlie is also authoring an advanced textbook in manufacturing and competitive strategy, along with assisting in developing a graduate level curriculum in management-industrial engineering-manufacturing systems engineering.

Associate professor MICHAEL KOLCHIN continues intensive involvement in the National Association of Purchasing Management, serving on its board of trustees of the Center for Advanced Purchasing Studies and participating in NAPM's purchasing and materials management research symposium. Augmenting those activities are his interests in examining purchasing practices and performances in various sectors of the economy, along with conducting negotiating training seminars for multinational corporations as General Electric. JOHN STEVENS, associate professor and Colonel in the U.S. Army is conducting research during the 1990-91 academic year at the American War College at Carlisle, Pennsylvania on tactics for redeployment and reorganization of military units.

SUSAN SHERER, assistant professor and member of the prestigious Society of Information Management, serves on one of its committees to foster interaction between academics, industrial, and public sector practitioners. Several of her papers on software risk management have been published during the past two years, in addition to papers presented at the Center for Management, Policy, Strategy, and Organization. She is integrating the grant received from the Association for Computing Machinery into a book she currently has in process on software risk assessment. Assistant professor PETER POOLE is serving as departmental representative on the college-wide Project 21 task force that is charged with revising the undergraduate curriculum in response to the challenges of the 21st century — which is now less than ten years distant. And AL BIRD, instructor, is completing his doctoral dissertation at the University of Houston while also developing a project on the interplay between strategy and long-term ethics.

Finally, the first chair of the department, the Frank L. Magee professor JAMES HOBBS is retiring after serving in the departments of Economics, Accounting, Management, Finance, Marketing, and law on various occasions during the past 25 years. He leaves behind a legacy of Illigitum Non Carborundum.

Computer Science & Electrical Engineering

The Computer Science and Electrical Engineering Department is one of the largest academic departments at Lehigh with about 400 undergraduates (sophomore to senior) and 200 graduate students, of which 90 are full time. The CSEE curriculum within the College of Engineering and Applied Sciences are accredited in Electrical Engineering, Computer Engineering and Computer Science. These disciplines are central to the national effort to deal with the issues of international competitiveness. They range from the fundamental design and theoretical aspects of engineering to computer and informational systems required to manage and transform major production or administratively oriented enterprises.

Active faculty review of the undergraduate program assures timely response to meet the demands of the rapid progress in our disciplines. Equally important has been a recognition for the need to provide more opportunities for students to meet and work with faculty members in less formal settings. These include working with students organizations such as IEEE student branch and an

Industrial Engineering

The class of 1991 was the first industrial engineering class to take all of its IE courses in the Mohler Laboratory building. The department faculty completed the move to the Mohler building in January 1988, and we are finally getting accustomed to our new surroundings after many years of sharing Packard Lab with the Electrical and Mechanical Engineering Departments.

Several new pieces of laboratory equipment were acquired during the last year to confuse and complicate the lives of the class of 1991 (and its successors): new computers and software for the Computer Integrated Manufacturing Lab and Information Systems Lab, and two new production machines and an assembly line conveyor for the Manufacturing Technology Lab. The graduating class acquired a first-hand experience in planning the production of a product on an assembly line, and then working on the line using their plan. That's justice.

In Fall 1989, the department welcomed two new faculty members: Dr. Laura Burke (assistant professor) and Dr. Keith Gardiner (visit-received his B.S. and Ph.D. in that field from the University of Manchester (England). He worked for IBM Corporation for many years before coming to Lehigh to direct our graduate program in Manufacturing Systems Engineering.

Materials Science And Engineering

The academic year 1990-1991 has been a milestone year for the Department of Materials Science and Engineering as it was our Centennial Year! Actually, the department can trace its beginning back to the founding of Lehigh University. When Lehigh was founded 125 years ago, there were five departments, or "schools" as they were then called, and one of these was the School of Mining and Metallurgy. In 1890, the Mining and Metallurgy School became two departments — the Mining Department and the Metallurgy Department. This Metallurgy Department is known today as the Department of Materials Science and Engineering and is recognized as one of the top metallurgy/materials departments in the United States and Canada.

The beginning of the Centennial Celebration was marked by a three-day program on November 1-3. On November 1 tours of the newly painted and decorated Whitaker Laboratory, home of the department and the Materials Research Center, were given for alumni and friends before an evening banquet at the Mountaintop Campus. Nearly 250 undergraduates, graduate students, faculty, alumni, and friends attended the banquet where distinguished alumni and former department chairmen were honored. The department's chairmen, Professor Richard Hertzberg, served as master of ceremonies for this event. Distinguished Alumni Awards were presented to the three former students of the department; the recipients were: Peter R. Bridenbaugh, vice president of Alcoa Corp.; Frederick C. Langenberg, chairman and chief executive officer of the Interlake Corp.; and U.S. congressional representative Don Ritter. Doctors Robert D. Stout and Joseph F. Libsch, department chairmen emeriti, were honored and surprised by the unveiling of their portraits at the banquet. The oil paintings will be placed in the department's conference room in Whitaker Laboratory. Prof. Rustom Roy, Evan Pugh Professor of Solid State Science at Pennsylvania State University, was the evening's keynote speaker.

A technical symposium was held on Friday, November 2, to address the future challenges in the materials field. The session was chaired by Prof. Donald Smyth, director of the Materials Research Center. The Saturday morning program was given to discussions on "precollege students' interest in science and engineering" and was chaired by Prof. Himanshu Jain. A tailgate-lunch and football game ended the three-day celebration.

Other significant activities in this centennial year included among others i) the addition

Regarding the latter, the faculty officially introduced the Materials Science and Engineering Faculty Centennial Scholarship Fund which will be used to support future MS & E majors.

Mechanical Engineering

The department faculty underwent a number of changes this year. Professor Fazil Erdogan became Interim Dean of the College of Engineering and Applied Sciences and was replaced by Professor Robert P. Wei as Chairman of the Department. Professor Ken Sawyers became Associate Dean of the College of Engineering and Applied Sciences. Professor Dominic Edelen transferred to the Mathematics Department. On sabbatical are Professor Kyra D. Stephanoff, Alexander Von Humboldt Foundation Fellowship (Germany), Professor Terry J. Delph, NSF Grant (Germany), and Professor Robert R. Wei, Alexander Von Humboldt Foundation Award for Senior U.S. Scientists (Germany). Joining the department is Professor John Coulter who comes to Lehigh from industry and obtained his Ph.D. from the University of Delaware in 1988.

In this picture senior tailback Eric Torain rushes ahead for a few more yards to get that key first down. Torain has been a key player for the Engineers this season, setting many records along the way. Torain won the Most Valuable Player award when the Engineers crushed the Leopards in the country's oldest sports rivalry, that being between Lehigh and Lafayette. In that game Torain carried the ball 36 times for 224 yards and a touchdown, the first Engineer ever to have two games in one season where he topped 200 yards. Torain also became his school's all-time leading scorer with 306 points and tied a school record for most career touchdowns (50). Perhaps Torain's greatest achievement is a career 2,397 yards, fourth on the all-time list at Lehigh. (132)

The Engineers had a very good season this year having both a winning record overall of 7-4 and within the Patriot League of 3-2. Next year Lehigh will be losing many of its star players including seniors: Eric Torain, Kevin Costello, and, Shon Harker, among others. The incoming freshman players will have a tough time filling the shoes of these athletes.

In this picture, Lee Picarello, number 51 on the Engineers defense, assists in one of his many tackles in the Lehigh/Columbia game. Picarello was a very strong asset to the Lehigh football team. This photograph depicts only one tackle of his ten unassisted and nine assisted tackles in the Columbia game alone. Picarello, a junior was the leader on Lehigh's defense with 93 unassisted and 94 assisted tackles for the season. This made Picarello second and all league for the season. Picarello's impressive talents helped the Engineers in this game as well as all season long.

Al Snyder, #9, leads the Lehigh Engineers to victory in his debut as a starter. This senior back-up quarterback completed 22 of 31 attempts. Al cites hard work and years of dedication for these numbers. He has scored two touchdowns, one passing and one rushing, and has passed for 313 yards. Snyder, who led Harper Junior College to the championships, used this knowledge and experience in his play for the Engineers. He was a solid and dependable player, who was a backbone to the Engineers success during starting quarterback Glen Kempa's absence.

The men's soccer team has a bright and optimistic future ahead of them as they prepare for next season. With only one senior leaving, co-captain and senior back Henry Cence, the team will still be very strong.

The disappointment of not qualifying for the Patriot League play-offs this season has not discouraged this young team. The hard work, such as post-season practice four times a week, exemplifies the strong will of this team. "Defense next year will be solid and there will be more scoring offensively," said assistant coach Tim McWilliams.

This seasons leading players were co-captain and junior back Andrew Udell. Udell is a true leader on the team whom most players looked up to. Scott Chinitz, sophomore leading forward, and Henry Cence also played very strongly. Cence was a leading scorer of the season. Top scorer was sophomore forward Evan Stein who scored 8 goals. Sophomore goalkeeper, Mike Zovistoski and sophomore back Elliot Waller showed by their performance this season that they will be the leaders of the future.

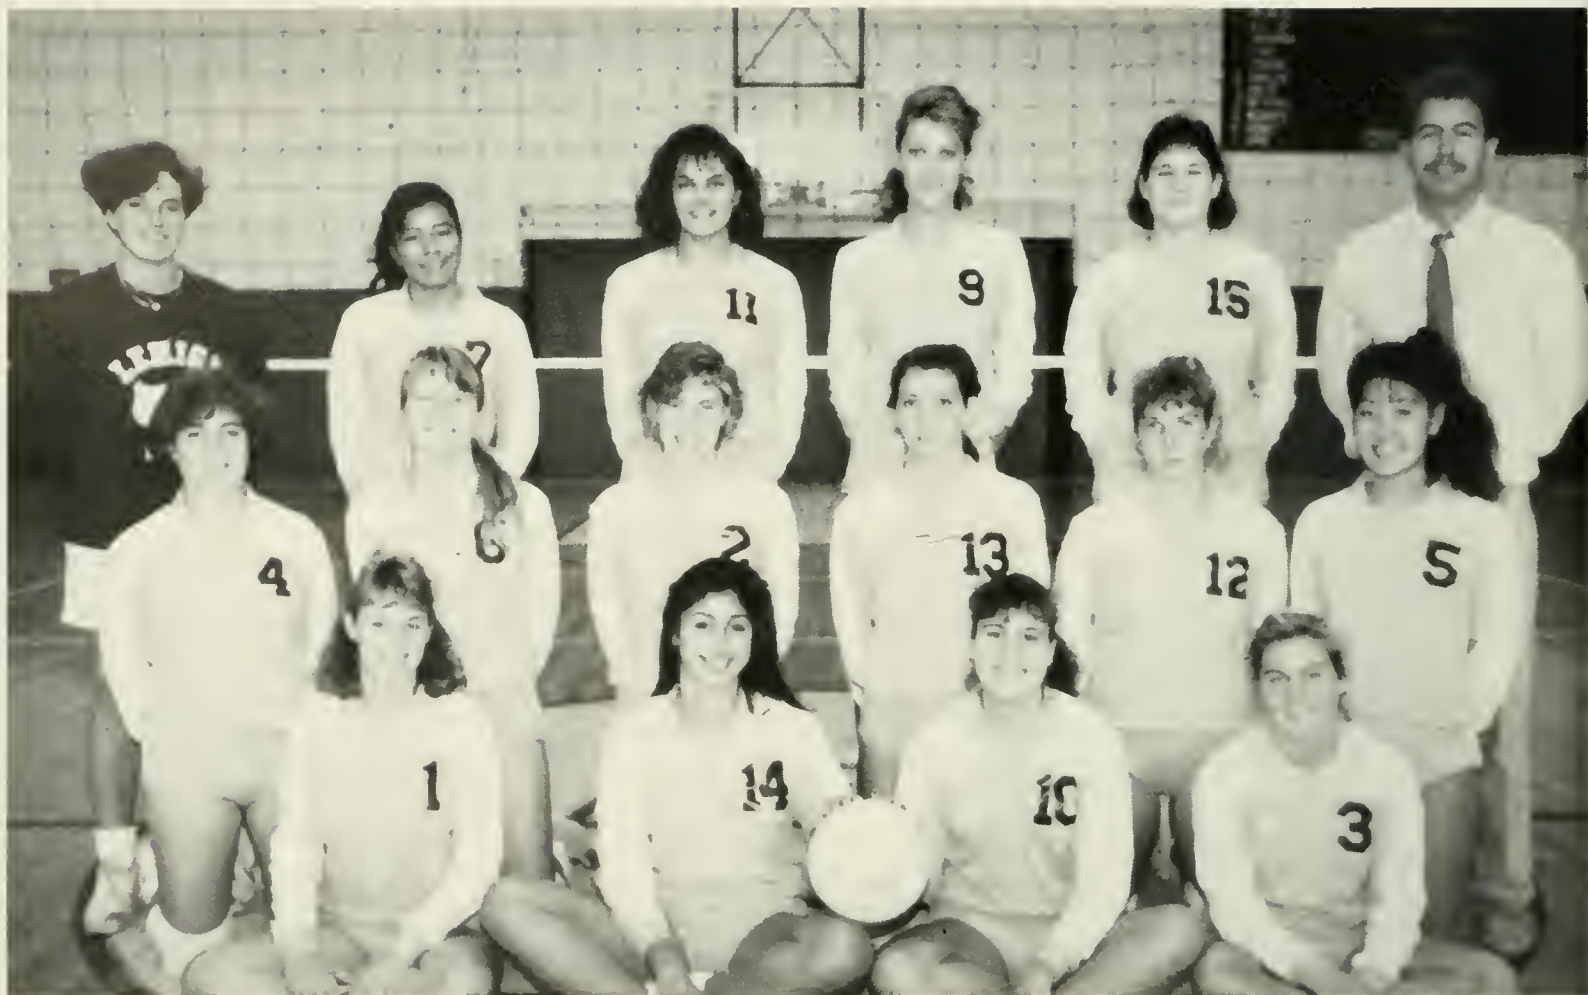

Freshman Scott Chambers and Chris Leroy were also important additions to the team this season and will be an important part of the team's strength in the future.

Sophomore Evan Stein is described as "Lehigh's most dangerous offensive weapon." He scored 8 goals and was Lehigh's leading scorer this season. He will give the soccer team a very strong future. Although he did not qualify for the Patriot League playoffs this season Evan's contribution was excellent. Assistant coach Tim McWilliams and head coach John McCloskey can look for big things next season with Evan Stein and feel he is a strong candidate for the first team honors in the Patriot League.

Sophomore midfielder Matt Sullivan keeps control of the ball in this photograph and dribbles it down field. Matt has had a strong impact on the team this season. "He is one of the most consistent and skilled players on the team this season," said assistant coach Tim McWilliams. McWilliams also said that Matt exemplifies the work ethic and leads by example. The Engineers had a strong season and although they did not qualify for the Patriot League Playoffs the team is optimistic and has hope. With a young team and players like Matt Sullivan the future is bright for the team.

Blocks, bumps, jumps, sets, and spikes: these are just a few of the words to describe the action of Lehigh's 1990-91 Girl's Varsity Volleyball Squad. The team is composed of fifteen girls ranging from freshman to seniors, twelve of which will be returning in the fall. Mike Krause, the three year reigning coach, feels that through the season "the players got to know each other exceptionally well, thus bringing them together to win six out of their last eight games." With the return of so many team members plus the incoming freshman next year, Mike is looking forward to a promising future.

Junior Co-Captains Donna Gaugler and Adriana Suarez led the squad in kills and blocks as well as team confidence and perseverance. More and more each year local Pennsylvania players are joining the team and thus bringing their fans along also. The number of local fans consistently grows with the high paced excitement of this volleyball, and, of course, more are always welcome to come and cheer the girls on.

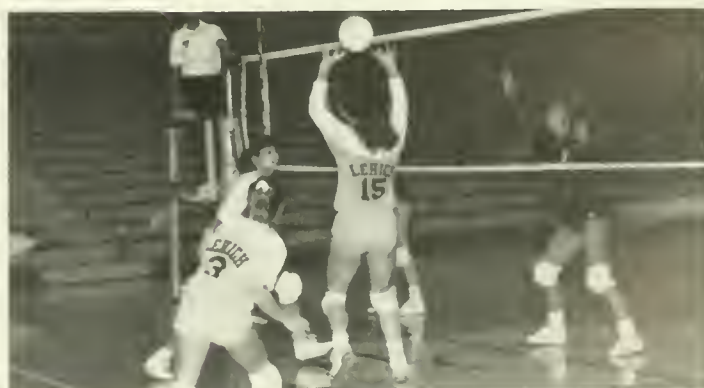

Lehigh's number 15, Cindy Gunn, is a sophomore who brings new meaning to the term "set". She is constantly on her toes and ready for any play that is willing to come her way. In addition to being the team's setter of a 5-1 offense, Cindy is also number one for serving percentage and on the First Team All League.

Playing the position of outside hitter is junior Donna Gaugler, otherwise known to her fans as "Killer". Donna, who is first on her team in kills, second for serving percentage, and made Second Team All League. Donna has been on the squad for the past three years and continuously proves herself as an asset each season.

Both Cindy and Donna helped to join the team into the cohesive unit that they are now. Like the pieces of a puzzle, the girls on this years squad fit together flawlessly.

Perhaps the greatest addition to the team this year was freshman Colleen Makosky. Although she is somewhat short for a volleyball player, Colleen has a powerful vertical jump and is exceptionally quick on her feet. She moves with incredible speed in the back row to pick up digs. Due to Colleen's numerous accomplishments it is quite obvious why she deserved and won Rookie of the Year this season.

After combining the team's talents it becomes evident as to why they work so well together. The girls became so close that they would know each others moves before they were even played. Because of all these efforts Girls Volleyball managed to have a fabulous season, including defeating Lafayette all four times they challenged them.

With a final record of 1-18-1, after a very tough season, the Lehigh University field hockey team played better than their record shows. As a team that is comprised of players that need to work together, they did a very good job of showing just how important leadership can be.

Though Lehigh had many strong returning players, the team was relatively a young one. "We are basically a brand new team, and everyone has to get used to each other," said junior forward Mindy Strang, giving it her best shot above. "We need a lot of reconstruction," she said. Mindy, who was the teams leading scorer in 1988 and 1989, headed a contingent of only seven returning letter winners. She also said that the squad has a lot of determination. Strang posted 11 goals last season and nine as a freshman two seasons ago. The teams goal, Strang said, was to play their hardest and do the best they could. Although the women were frustrated with their losses, they realized they gave it their best effort.

Midfielder Caroline Kurz fights the opposition for control of the ball during a tough game. Along with senior Diana Feeser, Kurz is co-captain of the field hockey team. Her position of co-captain was not awarded for her athletic ability alone. Kurz is known by her teammates for her ability to keep team spirits high. During hard times, she was the key factor in boosting team spirit and morale. Kurz feels that skill and performance are not all that is needed to win the game, "Intensity is also needed." Kurz is a persistent player who always keeps on top of the ball and doesn't let anything stand in her way. A senior, Kurz has a wide range of athletic abilities. Since her freshman year, she has played "Everything but goalie," during field hockey career. Kurz is also captain of the Lehigh women's lacrosse team. She has played lacrosse at Lehigh since her freshman year as a defender. As a participant in two athletic programs here at Lehigh, Caroline Kurz is a woman of strong dedication, athletic ability, and leadership qualities.

This summer two Lehigh University field hockey players, sophomore midfielder, Kara Gaffney, struggling for control of the loose ball above, and sophomore, Amy Early, attended the Olympic developmental camp reaching the B-level, which is just a step under the Olympic A-level. In order to be chosen for this level, they were evaluated by top coaches who saw them play extensively for that week of competition.

The Lehigh University men's cross country team competed this past October in the prestigious Paul Short Memorial Invitational Run at the Goodman Campus.

The squad competed in a field of 30 schools, finishing with an impressive ninth overall with a final team score of 301.

Coach John Covert was pleased with his team's performance against the rugged competition.

"To have the team finish ninth in a race with top powers such as Kansas and Penn State is really pleasing," Covert said.

In this photograph the Boys varsity cross country team shows a strong beginning. The team overall had a good season with a record of 12-8-1. As well as a strong showing in the Paul Short Memorial Run, the team did very well also in the Colgate meet, taking third. Within the Patriot League competition was tough. The team went 1-2 within the league, and took fourth in the Patriot League tournament, tying with Lafayette.

The Lehigh men's cross country team were honored at a meet this season, by having the 1986 Olympic Champion, Larry James, speak to them. James gave the team members support and encouragement as athletes. James said that "each of us has our own Olympics though it may not be the 'Olympics' as we know them, we have something in work, school or athletics."

Freshman John Van Order strides forward to lead the Lehigh Varsity Boys Cross Country Team to victory, followed closely by runners from Colgate and Columbia. Van Order had his best time at the Lafayette meet of 26:44.7 which is one of the best times on the team for the season. In a tough meet Lafayette prevailed 31-24. Overall the Engineers had a winning record and a very strong season. John personally had a very good season and as a freshman has plenty of time to tune up his abilities.

Here are the girls of Lehigh's cross country team ploughing ahead, showing the dedication and determination of a strong team. This year was very tough as many seniors graduated last year and it was a very young team. The team finished even at 10-10, yet overall pulled together and developed. Many of the freshman "learned the ropes" of college athletics. The team had a very strong showing at the Colgate meet, taking third place.

Coming up on the left is freshman Tina Altro. She ran consistently in the top four and finished her best race in 19:02 minutes. Since this was her first year of Cross-Country at Lehigh, it is impressive that Tina was both in the top seven on the Varsity team and a letter-winner.

To the right is Lehigh's number one runner in four meets, Denise Richards, also a Freshman letter-winner. Denise constantly ran in the top three and completed her best race with the time of 18:45.1 in the Patriot League Meet.

Striding here with her best foot forward is Captain of the team, Tanya Butensky. She is a three year Varsity letter-winner who ran 19:07.2, her best race this season, at the Patriot League Meet, in which Lehigh took fourth place overall.

Looking back on the season Tanya noted that "the overall team attitude was extremely strong, unified and dedicated. And, even though they were a young team, the girls were still very competitive and look forward to a strong future."

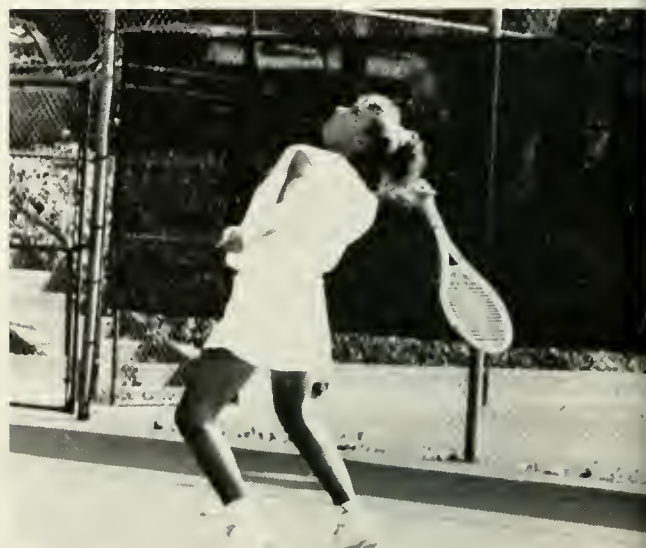

Running to the right of Tanya is Dawn Castle, a freshman, who had position number 6-8 on the team. This season was Dawn's first on Lehigh Cross-Country and she strived for and earned her letter on the Varsity team. At the Lehigh/Lafayette meet Dawn finished the event with her lowest time of 21:04 minutes, thus achieving her personal best.

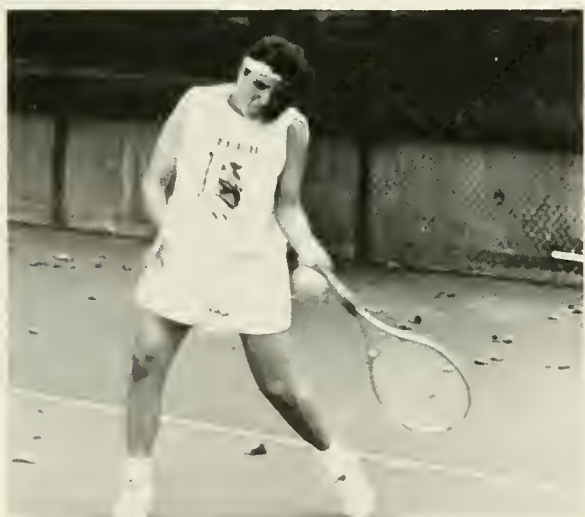

Here senior Patty Denman gives her all in returning a difficult shot. Denman had a winning season this year and is thought to be the most consistent player on the team. The Engineers had an 8-4 record and placed second in the Patriot League, losing to Fordum by two points.

In this photo Junior Laurin Kosakowski is shown, about to fire her deadly serve. Kosakowski had her best season this year winning #6 singles in the Patriot League Tournament and finishing with a winning record. In doubles Kosakowski is paired with senior Denman and broke even for the season at 7-7.

Girls Tennis

In this photograph Junior Sandy Friedberg concentrates on returning a low shot. Sandy had a winning season with a record of 9-6 at singles and 8-4 on her doubles play with sophomore Jen Mrozek.

The Girls Tennis Team had a healthy season this year with no injuries. According to coach Dave Shock "the girls worked very well together, and we are pleased with our season." The team took #1 doubles at the Patriot League Tournament through the strong play of freshman Kristi Kungl and junior Liz Tursi.

Lehigh students often forget about school spirit and how important it is to the success of its sports teams. Well, luckily Lehigh has a cheerleading squad which has enough talent and energy to provoke spirit even in the most unenthusiastic fans. This season was a fun one with lots of hard work and lots of cheering. They also had some exciting changes which made the squad even better. For the first time the squad had a coach, John Kelly, who made the cheers more athletically oriented. This element helped to rev the crowds up and get them more into the game. There were also a lot of returning cheerleaders this year, mostly from the sophomore class. Their experience only adds to the squad's overwhelming enthusiasm. This year's co-captains are Sarah Klinge, Kathy Mitchell, and Sonny Rutkowski, all '93. The rest of the squad consists of: Gary Sadavage '91, Cynthia Roccaforte '92, Greg Saunders, Jessica Edwards, Christina Gullo, Rosie Torres, all '93. Four freshman joined the squad this year, Ron Lanzo, Zina Capiello, Laura Hite, and Kathy Shaud. Lehigh congratulates the squad on a great season, and wishes them the best of luck in the future.

Seniors Paul Littlefield of Englewood, New Jersey, and Dwight Morrow High School, and Jeff Roddin of Woodhaven, Michigan, and Woodhaven High School, led the Lehigh University men's swimming squad to a 7-6 record during the 1990-91 season. It was the school's second winning campaign in a row under coach Chris Marshall, during his two years at the helm, and the tenth in the last 12 seasons. The Engineers defeated Holy Cross, Rider, Colgate, Rutgers, Bucknell, Johns Hopkins and Gettysburg while losing to Fordham, North Carolina, Syracuse, Delaware, Drexel and Lafayette. They were second to Fordham in the Patriot League championships at Colgate and 17th in the Eastern Seaboard tournament at Princeton.

Littlefield paced the team in first places with 22 individual and another dozen as a member of relay quartets. He was one of the East's premier freestylers, winning 10 times at 100 yards, six at 200 and twice each at 50, 1000 and in the 200 IM. In relays he was on six victorious 400 medley teams and on six freestyle winners, four at 400 and one each at 200 and 800. He won the Patriot League championships in the 100 and 200 free, and was on two title-winning relay teams. He broke his own school marks in the 100 free (45.66), 200 free (1:38.72), and 200 IM (1:53.66). Littlefield is a true champion and one of Lehigh's finest athletes.

The Engineers, coached for the second season by Chris Marshall, had a 4-9 record with victories over Holy Cross, Rutgers, Johns Hopkins and Gettysburg, and a third place finish in the Patriot League championships.

Sophomore Megan Eves of Palmyra, Pennsylvania, and junior Jen Canavan of Lansdale, Pennsylvania were leaders on the 1990-91 women's swimming squad at Lehigh University. Eves figured in 16 first places, 11 individual and five on relay teams, while Canavan had a hand in 14, divided equally between individual and relay events. Canavan was on two relay teams which set school marks and one which established a pool record. Eves was on the pool-record team and one of the school record quartets.

There were six victories for Eves in the 200 breast, three in the 200 free and one each in the 200 IM and 500 free. Canavan won six times in the 200 IM and once in the 200 back.

Close behind were two freshman, Daryl Smith of Hingham, Massachusetts, and Angela Palma of Bensalem, Pennsylvania and Jill Roddin of Woodhaven, Michigan, a junior. Smith and Palma each figured in a dozen triumphs. Smith had five individual victories, three in the 100 free and two in 50 free, and was on seven winning relay teams, three of them record setters. She set a school mark in the 50 free (25.00). Palma, a diver, won seven times in the 1-meter and five times in the 3-meter. Roddin set Lehigh University records in the 100 fly (1:00.64) and 200 fly (2:12.47) while posting five individual victories and swimming on three winning relay teams.

1/19 at Wilkes	21-19 W	2/23 FRANKLIN & MARSHALL	19-13 W

The wrestling team had an extremely tough season finishing at 3-11, 2-6 in EIWA. Plagued by chronic injuries and an inexperienced squad the team struggled through a very tough schedule including such teams as Iowa, Iowa State, Army, Navy, Syracuse. The team did finish on a high note beating Franklin and Marshall at home in Stabler. The team entered five major tournaments and had a good finish at the Las Vegas Invitational finishing in the top half of the schools represented. The team will face an even more challenging year next year as six starting matmen will be graduating: Ed Regan, Joe Herrmann, Cliff Chapman, Lane Pendleton, Matt Ruppel, and the heavyweight John Morris. The Lehigh University wrestling squad faces the toughest teams in the country, this competition is what makes the sport exciting.

Senior 126 pounder Ed Regan led the Lehigh University wrestlers in victories during the 1990-91 season with a 25-13 record, completing his collegiate career with a 49-54-2 mark.

Freshman Sean Cassidy also had a good season being the only other member of the squad to have 20 or more wins, with a record of 21-15. Freshman Toriano Boynton also made a showing with a few wins. Boynton began wrestling his senior year in high school and is now wrestling against the top ranked teams in the nation.

Senior Joe Herrmann had a 19-11 record and finished his collegiate career with a 52-34-4 record. Senior heavyweight John Morris finished his collegiate career with a record of 47-24-6. Seniors Matt Ruppel, the 1990 NCAA champion at 190 pounds, and the 150 pounder Lane Pendleton suffered early season-ending injuries, both with 2-1 marks. Pendleton ended his career 31-37-3. Ruppel, tied for fourth place on Lehigh's all-time winning list, has an 87-13-3 record. He can petition the NCAA for another season of eligibility if a chronic back problem is resolved.

The men's basketball team this year had its second best ever in the number of victories over 90 seasons, with a 19-10 record, second only to the 1987-88 season of 21-10. Bob Krizansky and Dozie Mbonu, juniors who are on target to rank with Lehigh University's greatest basketball stars of all time, paced the Engineers during the 1990-1991 action. They led 17 of 20 statistical categories while pacing their team to a great year.

Coach Dave Duke's squad had its all-time best home record in Stabler Center (10-2) with the losses to Patriot League champion Fordham at the buzzer, 76-73, and Ivy League champion Princeton 57-40. The Engineers 10 league wins were a school record as was the 50.6% shooting from the field.

Bob Krizansky is a 6'4" junior who weighs in at 225 pounds, and is a Charles Barkley type forward who led 10 statistical columns. He was the pace-setter in points (489) and points per game (16.9), field goals (187) and field goals attempted (323), 3-point field goal percentage (.460 making 17 out of 37 attempts), assists (129), steals (68), defensive rebounds (160), minutes played (984) and minutes played per game (33.9). Krizansky is from Hazleton, Pennsylvania and went to Hazleton High School.

Dozie Mbonu is 6'6", 205 pound junior from Philadelphia, Pennsylvania where he went to the Church Farms School. Mbonu moved from his natural forward position to center and led seven categories. These categories include: field goal percentage (.586 making 171 out of 292 attempts), offensive (100) and total rebounds (232), rebounds per game (8.0), blocked shots (21), and free throws made (139) and attempted (183). He played 973 minutes averaging 33.6 a game.

The Lehigh University Womens Lacrosse team had a very tough season this year with many senior stars who graduated last year. The team finished 4-11 and went 1-2 in the Patriot League. More than half underclass women, the main problem that the team faces was their inexperience. There were also many extremely close games in while the game was determined in the final minutes of play. One of the teams best victories came against Old Dominion, in which Lehigh demolished them 12-3. Equally important senior attacker Krista Groman scored her 100th career goal in the game. Another impressive victory was the teams win over a tough Georgetown squad, 11-6. The team learned many valuable lessons this year and got valuable playing experience. Freshman stars to watch out for next year include Jenny "O" George, Tara McGurk, and Edie Roberts.

The Lehigh University Men's Lacrosse team had a decent season finishing 5-7 overall and split at 2-2 in the Patriot League standings. The team started out extremely strong with many early victories and had an end of the season slump due to the difficulty of the teams and Lehigh's own inexperience. The team had a very strong showing against Lafayette defeating them in an easy 17-12 win. According to Assistant Coach Paul Feildelson, "the attitude was 'team', they wanted to win as a team, and they got the job done together." Through team work and hard dedication the Lehigh "laxers" went on to defeat a very tough St. John's squad, in a very close victory 11-10. Through team all-stars such as senior midfielder Scott Redington and Co-captain John Francis they won a hard fought battle with the lead changing hands over seven times. Head Coach McCloskey praised the defense for late game saves to preserve the victory. The team enjoyed an easy Patriot League victory over Holy Cross, 14-7 early in the season also. The team did a good job of uniting this year and gaining valuable experience, watch out for them next year!!

The Lehigh University Baseball team had a rough season this year finishing up at 8-16, and 2-10 in the Patriot League. The team faced an extremely tough schedule and with many starters out of the lineup due to injuries, it was a hard season. The team is still a very young team and will only be losing one senior next year. Although that senior is star catcher Van Shell who leads many categories in statistics. Van, a clutch player for Lehigh had a strong season both batting and fielding. Other stars in the Lehigh lineup include juniors Peter Buckley, Patrick Connors, and pitcher Scott Markel. Highlights during the season include an impressive victory over Lafayette 10-9, in Easton, and an important win over St. Josephs 6-3. The younger players on the team got a full year of experience facing such teams as Princeton, Bucknell, Holy Cross, and the tough Forham "Rams". The team picked up pace at the end of the season with some strong wins. Lehigh trounced Scranton 11-4 behind the strong hitting of sophomore outfielder Jeff Peek, Andrew Carabillo, and Peter Buckley. The team worked well together and played hard ball. Watch out for the Engineers next year as they come back strong and ready!!

The men's tennis team experienced a season of both wins and losses. With a record of 10-8, the Engineers finished the season in a seven game winning streak, which included an 8-1 victory over Lafayette. The team finished fifth in the Patriot League championships at Colgate University in Hamilton, N.J., behind first place Bucknell, runner-ups Army and Colgate and fourth place Fordum. Overall, they finished 3-3 in the Patriot League. First doubles player, Steven Small commented, "overall, I feel we had a good season for such a young team. We hope to have an even better season next year." A young group, the team consists of just one junior co-captain Eric Perlmutter, and one senior co-captain John Stitt. The rest of the players are sophomores with the exception of one freshman. Although the team is young and may lack experience, the players have a positive outlook and great potential for the future.

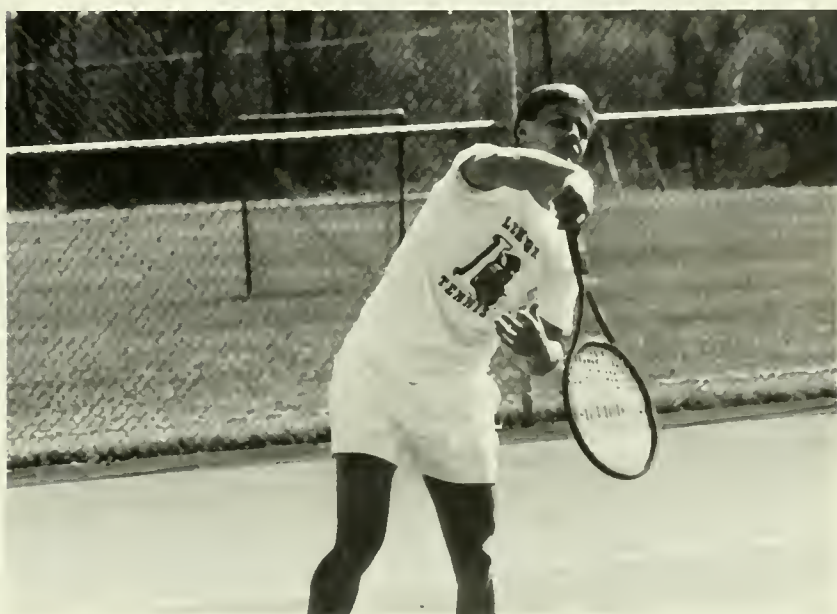

Lehigh University's Head Tennis Coach, Dave Shook said he was very proud and impressed with the attitudes and efforts displayed by his team this season. These words Shook used could not have been said without the efforts of players John Stitt, 91, and Eric Perlmutter, 92.

Perlmutter, who played third singles and first doubles last season en route to the East Coast Conference tournament, played second singles this year. Perlmutter stomped out many of his opponents in matches this season. He beat his opponent of the Delaware Blue Hens 6-2 and again in straight sets against the Fordham University Rams 6-3, and 6-0. Perlmutter said that the Fordham team played really tough and were much harder to beat than expected. The team also defeated them, 5-4. Perlmutter won another match in straight sets against Colgate, 6-3, 6-3.

John Stitt, playing fifth singles this season, salvaged many victories for Lehigh. Against the Army cadets Stitt defeated his opponent 7-5, 7-5 and easily defeated Drexel, 6-0, 6-1. Losing overall, 5-4, in a very close match against Bucknell, Stitt won three-set matches for the Engineers playing sixth singles.

Though the Engineers were not fortunate in some of their matches, they did have some exceptional players like Stitt and Perlmutter to pull them through.

1. After a great season last year of 21-8, with many graduating seniors, the Women's Basketball team had a rebuilding campaign this year, with a hard season at 10-18. The team did have some fantastic players such as Sandy Hume, whose accomplishments speak for themselves, Jen Siemaszko, and Tara Gould. The team split the set with Lafayette, losing away but bringing victory to Stabler. Key victories this season include wins over Dartmouth, Bucknell, and University of Pennsylvania in a close game winning at the buzzer 56-54. The team had a tough season with many younger inexperienced players and many injuries also plaguing the team. The team had a nine game losing streak were at that time as many as three starters were not able to play and over a half of team underclass women. Pleased with the season overall and the girl's efforts was Head Coach Jocelyn Beck.

The Engineers will be losing a key asset when senior Jen Hume graduates. This tireless, never-quit senior from Whitehouse Station, N.J. paced the Engineers in 14 statistical categories during the 1990-91 campaign. She made her earlier accomplishments on the court, and the 1990 ECAC Award of valor presentation, stand up by leading the team in points (493), points per game (17.6), defensive rebounds (161), total rebounds (231), rebounds per game (8.3), field goals made (178) and attempted (466), three-point field goals made (35) and attempted (96), free throws made (102) and attempted (129), steals (51), minutes played (1,010), and minutes played per game (36).

Over two seasons, after overcoming a serious knee injury problem, she played 58 games scoring 983 points (17.2 pg) and hauling down 471 boards (8.3 pg). And all of that came while hampered with a knee brace and with the realization that one wrong twist or turn could put her down for the count. She placed third among Lehigh's all-time career scorers (1,357 points), second in scoring average (15.8 pg) and in rebounds (647).

Chi Epsilon is the National Civil Engineering Honor Society. Membership in Chi Epsilon is open to the top Civil Engineering students in the junior and senior classes. There has been a Chi Epsilon chapter at Lehigh since 1952 when the first of our 517 members were inducted. The purpose of Chi Epsilon is to maintain and promote the status of Civil Engineering as an ideal profession.

Eta Kappa Nu

The Chi chapter of Eta Kappa Nu was founded at Lehigh in the 1950's. Eta Kappa Nu is a national honor society for electrical and computer engineers. The society strives to improve faculty/student relations, both academically and extracurricularly. We sponsor pub nights to allow students to socialize with their professors in a casual environment. Also, HKN sponsors trips to places of interest and a lecture series. The society has about twenty-five members; Juniors in the top quarter of their class and seniors in the top third of their class are eligible for membership.

Sigma Tau Delta — The English Club

The English Club is a little known group on Lehigh's campus, but with each passing year we come closer to becoming a well-known group that people get involved with. The officers, advisors, and members organize theatre trips, literature discussions, poetry readings, and movie-viewings to show that literature is everywhere in our culture, in all forms, and that it deserves having some attention paid to it.

But the best part of all of these art appreciation trips, poetry readings, intellectualizing, and just having fun is that it is open for EVERYONE. You do not have to be an English major or minor to join in the fun — all you have to do is show up at a meeting.

Tau Beta Pi

This year marks Tau Beta Pi's 105th anniversary at Lehigh University. TBP, the national engineering honor society, was founded at Lehigh in 1885, by Professor Edward H. Williams.

The Lehigh Chapter was 61 strong coming into the 1990-1991 academic year, but after the fall initiation we had 115 active members, consisting of the top junior and senior engineers in the school. The spring initiate class will be approximately twenty-five, bringing the end-of-year total to 163 members.

This year's Tau Beta Pi is led by a fine class of officers: Micheal Malinchock, President; Brian Bankoski, Vice President; Mike Grieff, Corresponding Secretary; Regina Whealon, Recording Secretary; Sandi Verish, Treasurer; Ken Lynch, Initiate Coordinator. With the help of chief faculty advisor Walter Hahn, these officers will foster scholarship and integrity on the Lehigh engineering scene.

Dancin'

Dancin' originated as Lehigh's Dance Club in 1982 as a Ballet Club bringing together both experienced and inexperienced ballet dancers. The club officers taught the students and led the ballet classed. The club has since expanded to include ballet, jazz, and modern dance students and is professionally choreographed by Anneliese Burns who also teaches and dances at various schools and in shows in Pennsylvania and New York. Classes are held on a regular basis and vary in dance style. The club has performed in the Benefit for the Homeless and looks forward to annual dance productions including student choreography and visiting performers from surrounding colleges. Dancin' is led by President Lynda Stone, Vice-President Beth DeMarte and Treasurer Jennine Rixon.

Lehigh University Jazz Ensemble

The Jazz Ensemble, one of two big bands on campus, is a select group of 21 of the finest jazz musicians. Members audition before the fall semester and rehearse in both the fall and spring semester. The group performs five times per academic year, including the annual POPS concert, with the Wind Ensemble, and also traveled to Bermuda over Spring Break.

Lehigh University Wind Ensemble

The Wind Ensemble is a select group of 40 of Lehigh's finest wind, brass, and percussion players. Members audition for the ensemble in the fall semester, and attend an intense weekend band camp on campus the first week of the spring semester. All members of the ensemble participate for one academic credit. The group performs three times in the spring semester, including POPS, and an annual tour. This year's tour took the group to the island of Bermuda during Spring Break.

Marching 97

The 1990 season was one of action and one of change for the Marching 97, Lehigh's marching band. Besides home football games, the 97 was proud to represent Lehigh at away games and in several community functions. Change came in the form of a new home and a new director for the band, as well as a whole new crop of "psyched" freshmen to keep the band's numbers up.

The 97 performed its traditional student-written pregame and halftime drills at every home football game in Goodman stadium. The band also took its full show on the road to Towsan State, Holy Cross, and Lafayette, and a smaller group "flamed" Dartmouth, Northeastern, William and Mary, and the infamous Penn Pacing Break game. The 97 also represented Lehigh in the Bethlehem and Hellertown Halloween parades and the TEP Cancer Drive parade down the Hill.

The Fall of 1990 also saw the band rejoin the music department after several years as an independent activity. Professor Casey Teske, director of the Wind and Jazz Ensembles, became the 97's director and helped the Executive's Committee recruit a larger number of freshman, on which the band hopes to base its return to 97 members within the next few years.

The Association Of The U.S. Army

The Association of the United States Army (AUSA) is a national organization formed 47 years ago as the "once voice" of the Total Army: the active, the retired, the Army Reserve, the Army National Guard, the Army civilian, and the soldier's family. AUSA has as its principle objectives the education of the public, liaison with industry, support for the people who serve in their country's uniform, and their professional development. The association is devoted to increasing awareness of matters concerning the Army and the landpower force in general. Members host activities that show the public what the Army offers and how our defense department operates to defend the nation. The association also sponsors field trips for members to military functions to increase their understanding of the Army. The AUSA's annual national meeting is the nation's leading defense forum. The AUSA has just completed its fifth year on campus here at Lehigh and maintains its charter with continued enthusiasm.

Dimension Color Guard

Dimension is Lehigh's own coed indoor colorguard. Through the use of dance and the "traditional" equipment including flags, rifles, and sabres, the guard created a unique performance that will place them at the top of their chapter this year. Our new instructor, Kelvin Bouknight, has brought much enthusiasm to Dimension and we hope to make him proud this competition season, the first in three years.

Lehigh Ranger Club

The Lehigh University Ranger Club competes in the ROTC sponsored Ranger Challenge Competition, an inter-collegiate military skills competition, and trains its members in the basics of small unit patrolling and leadership.

Scabbard And Blade

The Scabbard and Blade is the National Honor Society of the Army R.O.T.C. Members of the club participate in organizing various activities which benefit the R.O.T.C., Lehigh, and Bethlehem communities. Some of our activities include Operation Santa Claus, which provides gifts for local under privileged children during the Christmas holiday season and a fruit basket sale which allows parents to send their children a fruit basket and a "good luck on finals" wish.

Social And Special Interest

Alpha Phi Omega

Alpha Phi Omega is a national service fraternity dedicated to school and community service. This year we did a number of worthwhile service projects including making food baskets for the poor, tree-planting and ushering several campus activities. We also participated in South Side Alive, Interaction Day and Adopt-a Grandparent programs.

members: Kim Trupiano, President; Adrienne Tsang, VP Membership; Anne Larsen, VP Service; Kirsten Costello, Treasurer; Jennifer Reller, Secretary; Brooke Bennett, Eric Crause, Diane Brobst, Debra Cogan, Mark Florio, Dana Hontz, Michelle LaRocca, Debra Lehr, Dana Lombardo, Atul Mathur, Carolyn Milhiser, Jennifer Owczarek, Stephanie Parmele, John Reihle, Jennine Rexon, Heather Schorr, Lynn Schott, Ellyse Smolenak, Kathryn Snyder, Kim Strom, Jeanne White, Eugenia Zenicki.

Best Buddies

The mission of Best Buddies is to provide an opportunity for college students and persons with mild to moderate mental retardation to become friends. Since contact between college students and persons who are mentally disabled seldom happen spontaneously, Best Buddies facilitates social contact by organizing group outings and requiring ongoing one-to-one activities for College Buddies and Buddies. Best Buddies seeks to contribute positively to the social and psychological development of all involved and to the community at large. Students increase their understanding of themselves and learn more about living together in a large and diverse community. For persons with mental disabilities, Best Buddies affords the opportunity to make new friends, go new places, and meet people who are outside of their often limited social settings. Best Buddies is a multi-purpose program, however the key element is friendship and commitment to that friendship.

Green

The Biology Club, also known as Green, is not just a group of students who sit and talk about cellular processes. We are a group of friends with diverse backgrounds and varying fields of study with one thing in common - an interest in Biology. In the past, we have taken trips to the Baltimore Aquarium, the Museum of Natural History, and the Bronx Zoo. We have also hosted dinners with members of the faculty, shown biology-related films, and produced a newsletter. We plan to continue the tradition of combining good times with education. As always, we welcome new members.

Lehigh Christian Fellowship

Lehigh Christian Fellowship (LCF) is a chapter of Inter Varsity Christian Fellowship, a nondenominational, national organization of Christian college students dedicated to serving and bringing Jesus Christ to their campuses. LCF stresses personal growth through discipleship, weekly small Bible studies, worship, and prayer. Fellowship is also found through missions projects, evangelism projects (Atlantic City, Daytona Beach, Allentown), LCF Dinners, road trips, volleyball, movie nights, and many other activities.

Social Relations Club

The Social Relations Club was formed in September of 1990. The goal was a support system for Social Relations majors and other students in related majors. The club is very flexible and has sponsored speakers from various backgrounds, sent out newsletters, provided job updates, researched ideas, and planned parties in order to relate socially! Good Luck next year to all!

W.I.S.E.

Women Involved in Student Education was founded in 1984 as a club that addressed Women's issues through speakers, programs, workshops, and conferences. We are responsible for organizing the Big/Little Sister program at Lehigh. This program provides all incoming females with an upperclass student who can help her adjust to life at Lehigh. We have had speakers on balancing career and family, women's safety, and being in the first co-ed class at Lehigh. We have also had fashion shows and workshops on health and career planning. We hope next year's officers will have similar success.

Despite many changes that the Crew Team has undergone, including many seniors graduating last spring, hiring a new coach, and members joining and leaving in the middle of the season, the Crew Team started both the fall and the spring season with a bang! We rowed this year, for the first time in our career, in one of the biggest races on the East Coast: the Head of the Charles. We also raced in the head of the Schykill, and in the third annual Lehigh/Lafayette Regatta. We were especially pleased with our consistant winnings against our competitors in the Patriot League.

This year the men won the NJ Ski League and the women came in second. At Regionals the men and were in to the top five teams and Senior Regina Borgia qualified for Nationals in Mt. Batchelor Oregon. The ski teams compete against Princeton, Columbia, Rutgers, Lafayette, and Montclair State locally, and Penn State, Penn, Bucknell, Univ. of Va., Va. Tech., and West Virginia regionally. Senior Captain Jay Mumford led the team along with excellent finishes by Juniors Dave Salathe, Peter Vlasov, and Sophomore Peter Cherichetti. Regina Borgia led the womens team with Seniors Wendy Rand, Cindy Harrington, and Darcee Dalhbec finishing well.

A black and white photograph of six young men, likely members of the football team, posing together. Three are in the front row, and three are standing behind them. They are all smiling and wearing light-colored shirts. The man on the far left in the front row is wearing a light-colored short-sleeved shirt and a dark belt. The man in the center of the front row is wearing a light-colored t-shirt. The man on the far right in the front row is wearing a light-colored t-shirt. The three men in the back row are also smiling and wearing light-colored shirts. The background is dark and indistinct.

A black and white photograph of a group of young women sitting and posing among the branches of a tree. They are smiling and looking towards the camera. The image is framed by a thick black border.

Delta Phi Chapter at Lehigh University is a proud member of the International Council of the Delta Phi Fraternity. The chapter was founded in 1991 and has since then grown to become one of the most active and successful chapters in the world. The chapter is composed of members from various backgrounds and is dedicated to the promotion of the Greek life and the values of the Delta Phi Fraternity. The chapter is also involved in many community service projects and is a great source of support for the Lehigh University community.

It matters not what station in life one holds;
it matters a great deal how one lives with others.
ANON.

LIFE IS AN ENDLESS CYCLE OF BEGINNINGS AND ENDINGS. HOWEVER, IT IS THAT TIME IN BETWEEN-- THE GROWING, LEARNING, AND EXPERIENCING WITH OTHERS-- THAT SHEDS LIGHT ON WHO WE ARE AND WHO WE CAN BECOME.

--N.S.

WE MUST LEARN TO LIVE TOGETHER AS BROTHERS
OR PERISH TOGETHER AS FOOLS.

The Lehigh Experience

Congratulations to the Class of 1991! On August 27, 1987 you might have wondered how you were going to survive four long years balancing all of the new aspects of your life. Well, you did it. You are now proud alumni of Lehigh. Here is a poem that we feel summarizes the Lehigh experience.

You arrived at Lehigh.
You had great big eyes.
You had great big dreams.
You had great big suitcases.
You had a tiny room.
You made Lehigh home.

You checked mail twice a day.
You checked mail once a day.
You checked mail once a week.
You forgot where your mailbox was.

You learned where your classes were.
You learned to read Greek.
You learned to roam the Hill.
You forgot where your dorm was.

You went to Linderman to study.
You went to Linderman to socialize.
You went to Linderman to sleep.
You took your first exam.
You failed your first exam.
You went to Mart to study.

You walked to tailgates at Taylor Stadium.
You froze outside Taylor Stadium.
You beat Lafayette in Taylor Stadium.
You took home a piece of Taylor Stadium.

You tossed a football to Goodman Stadium.
You lost to Lafayette.
You lost to Lafayette.
You CRUSHED Lafayette!!

You went to great concerts at Stabler.
You saw James Taylor, Sting,

INXS.
You skipped Barry Manilow.

You went to Stabler for B-ball.
You held up your P's and Q's.
You cheered for LU in the NCAA.

You read the Brown and White.
You complained in the Brown and White.
You complained about the Brown and White.

You went to Sig Ep on Tuesday.
You went to Pi Lam on Wednesday.
You went everywhere on Thursday.
You always went to Late Night Sigs.

You took a 7:55 class.
You then heard about blocking.
You took a 9:00 class.
You then learned how to block.
You took Friday classes.
You then perfected blocking.

You went Greek.
You stayed Independent.
You became an Upperclassman.
You moved off campus.

You paid higher tuition.
You paid higher tuition.
You paid higher tuition.
You paid higher tuition.

You forgot about your future and worried about the weekend.
You enjoyed every weekend and philosophized about the future.
You worried about your future and escaped on the weekend.

You worked through the weekend and planned your future.

You turned 21 and went to the Ho.
You suddenly attended Senior nights.
You wondered what happened to the freshman days.
You used to drink all week.
You now drink one night and need Mylanta.

You wanted to hear Lee Iaccoca.
You wanted to be Lee Iaccoca.
You want a job from Lee Iaccoca.

You didn't go on a date.
You didn't go on a date.
You didn't go on a date.
What is a date?

You watched California quake and Hugo howl.
You watched the Berlin Wall fall and the iron curtain crumble.
You watched a war in the Gulf.
You hung yellow ribbons.
You hung the American Flag.

You agreed with the world.
You disagreed with the world.
You agreed to disagree with the world.

You thought Lehigh was the right school.
You thought Lehigh was the wrong school.
You made Lehigh the right school.
You graduated from the BEST school!!!

Introducing . . . The Class Of 1991

Flying Free

*There is a place I call my own
where I can stand by the sea,
And look beyond the things I've known,
and dream of what I can be.
Like the bird above the trees gliding
gently on the breeze,
I wish that all my life I'd be without a care and flying free.

But life is not a distant sky without a cloud, without rain,
And I can never hope that I can travel on without pain.
Time goes swiftly on it's way,
all too soon we've lost today.
I cannot wait for skies of blue or dream so long that life is through.
So life's a song that I must sing,
a gift of love I must share.
And when I see the joy it brings,
my spirits soar through the air,
Like that bird up in the sky,
life has taught me how to fly.
For now I know what I can be and now my heart is flying free.*

We wish a sincere thank you to

June Commencement

Commencement Speaker: Senator Bill Bradley

President of the Class of 1991 Susan Lanter addresses her fellow classmates during the exercises. The graduates were full of thanks to their parents, sweat as they were unable to breathe in their caps and gowns, and fear that they will never find a job, as is demonstrated by some of the messages written on the tops of some caps.

ELIZABETH:

Now that you have graduated from college, the word for the day is . . .

KITCHENETTE

Jughead

For us it was easy as your four years at Lehigh passed quickly by,
Although for you there was always plenty of work and reasons to try,
We're more proud of you than words can express,
Congratulations on your diploma and all your well deserved success.

Love,
Mom, Dad, Brian and Matt

In Closing

It is at this point in the yearbook that the editor-in-chief sits back and philosophizes about the past year and how the yearbook fit into that scheme. Well, rest assured, I will not be doing the same thing. I believe I have already made my statement(s) throughout the year outside the yearbook office, inside the yearbook office, and through this very book you now have the honor of possessing.

This is a damn good book. A lot of people put a lot of time and a lot of effort into creating this baby (note the emphasis on "A lot"). I think our hard work has paid off, and I hope you agree. For those of you who will be enjoying this book for years to come, all I can say is thank you, for to have someone re-read something you have created is the greatest compliment in the world.

I feel I should end with some sort of profound saying, something created by the likes of John Lennon or Shakespeare or someone of their caliber. therefore, since I do accede that there are others who can put two words together better than myself, I leave you with two simple quotes that, if you dare to listen hard enough, could change your life.

"Ask yourself whether you are happy, and you cease to be so," —

John Stuart Mill.

"Be aware of wonder," —

Robert Fulghum.

Thanks for listening.

1991 Epitome Yearbook

Colophon

Book: Volume 115 of The Epitome, 1991 edition, the official yearbook of Lehigh University, was printed by Jostens Printing and Publishing Division, State College, Pennsylvania, using an offset lithography process. The paper is primarily #80 Gloss with black ink. Color pages used #110 Kromkote paper.

Cover: The cover, made of a navy blue material with black Cordova grain, contained a gold foil embossment of the University Center of Lehigh University, in honor of the school's 125th anniversary this year. The cover was designed by The Epitome staff and drawn by Jostens.

Headlines and Copy: Korinna typeface was used for the majority of the book, but the advertisements used various typefaces. Body copy was predominately set in 10 point while captions used 8 point. Headline size varied throughout the book.

Photographs: Photographs are the work of The Epitome and The Brown and White staff photographers. These photographers are: Adam Griff, Chris Takayama, Karen Deane, Daniela DiMaggio, Marty Gee, Debbie Gregg, Court Harson, Sean Pecora, Whitney Rearick, Suzanne Rivers, Asha Thomas, and Jessica Williams. The photography staff was managed by Wendy Jones and Larisa Streibert. Senior portraits, as well as sports and graduation candids, were taken by Merin Studios, Philadelphia, PA. Athletic teams were photographed and supplied by Ryan Studios, Bethlehem, PA. The fraternity and sorority composites were taken by Fraternal Composite Services, Utica, NY.

Closing: The closing poem was written by Bob Dylan.

Thanks

Beth DeMarte: Your help with the opening section, as well as all of those calls you made and letters you wrote, was invaluable. You did what you could, and considering all of the academic constraints on your time, it was a lot. Good luck next year, and have fun with Debbie.

Ken Daub: What else needs to be said? We've been together four long years — thanks for the memories. Have fun in NYC next year — call me and we'll do lunch.

Liz Turk: The time it took you to complete the Ads for Grads section was too fast to believe. Thanks for getting all of that sales stuff done so quickly. You were a great help.

Debbie Streicher: Well, well, well. So you wanna be Editor-in-Chief, huh? All I can say is good luck. It is a bitch of a job, but one you will absolutely love. Hopefully, I am leaving you better off than how I was left when I assumed office. Hang in there, and worse comes to worst, call Phil (either Klein or the McKinley man).

Adam Griff: Once again our color photos are outstanding thanks to you and your staff. It was not looking good for a while, but we managed to get all of the photos we needed — thanks for all of your help. Have fun working on your Masters.

Wendy Jones and Larisa Streibert: I am sorry your jobs were not quite what you had in mind, but I hope you at least enjoyed that experience. Wendy: Thanks for all of your help sitting at that heinous senior portrait table.

Betsy Smith and Kim Jessum: Once again the Living section proved to be the largest and most difficult section to pull together. And as before, we were fortunate to have two outstanding people rise to the challenge and get it done. Kim: Your help with all of the grunt work is greatly appreciated. Betsy: It seems everywhere I turned this year you were there, helping out with senior portraits, writing follow-up letters, and doing layout after layout.

Doug Goldner and Steve Gabbay: We had some rough times this year, but I hope you both know how much I love the way the Sports section turned out. Considering the circumstances under which it was produced, it looks great. Steve: Have fun on the business staff next year — at least you will not have to do as many layouts. Doug: I am truly sorry I gave you such a hard time, but please do not take it personally.

Beth Easley and Kathy Snyder: Your efficiency and ability to produce what is always one of the books best-looking sections still amazes me. Thanks for getting Academics done so far in advance that we actually made a deadline.

Karen Jones and Seunah Lee: I can honestly say the Activities section has not looked this good in a very very long time. You guys have done a terrific job — be proud of yourselves and thanks for livening up what always proves to be a boring section of the book.

Alicia Karam and Kirstin Manning: As unbelievable as it may sound, the Seniors section is DONE!!! So, Alicia, stop stressing. I can not thank the two of you enough for all of the hard work and long hours you have put into not only your own section, but many other aspects of the yearbook as well. Thanks is all I can muster to say.

Jennifer Montemurro and Lisa Krick: The Features section took a refreshing turn this year, and I think it looks terrific. Thanks to you both for this year, and good luck for next year. I am sure the section will look even better now that you have some experience. Good luck.

Pam Mongi: I do not know how you continued to put up with me and my annoying pleas for help. Thank you for doing all of that leg-work, for sending out all of those yearbooks, and for proofreading all of those pages. You deserve an award for patience, but for now, my heart-felt thanks will have to do.

Phil Klein: Your friendship, support, and overwhelming enthusiasm are inspiring. Thanks ever so much for all that you have done, for answering all of my stupid questions, and for successfully putting up with my momentary lapses into stressville.

Linda Lipko: I do not know where to begin, nor do I know how to properly thank you for all that you have done. Whenever I needed an answer, I knew you could give me the best one. When I needed someone to gripe to, the social worker in you came out and you certainly made me feel a helluva lot better than how I entered your office. Thanks also for being a friend — I am a better person for knowing you. You have done more for this yearbook than you could possibly know.

A black and white photograph of three graduates in caps and gowns. The graduate on the left is smiling and looking towards the center. The graduate in the middle is also smiling and looking towards the right. The graduate on the right is partially visible, looking towards the right. They are all wearing dark gowns with white stoles and black caps. The background is blurred, showing other graduates and a building.
